Serving in Thailand

An Issue of Access

Thailand is a nation of friendly people, delicious food, and breathtaking nature. Spiritually, though, the darkness is profound—people are majority Buddhist and hardly 1% are Christians. A main issue is gospel access: how will people hear about God if there is not someone close to tell them?

First, Prayer

As we pray, God paves the way for people to know Him. Join me to pray for the Buddhist world with Change The Map.

Presence = Gospel Access

One way my team and I have gotten to know people in our city, Lampang, is hosting a Free English table at the weekend night market. We get to talk to people and show Jesus' love. My greatest joy has been to see a few friends choose to follow Jesus. I get to join God's work in their lives as they grow in their faith and learn to share that faith with others. The goal is a local church that reaches local people.

I want to invite and equip you and your church to pray for Buddhists and change the spiritual map of Thailand and the Buddhist world.

Will you send a short-term team? Will you send a long-term laborer to join God's work in Thailand? Will you come yourself?

Originally from Ventura, I have lived in Thailand for nearly 16 years as a missionary from the SoCal Network. I am excited for opportunities to serve your church by encouraging people to pray and participate in the Buddhist-Hindu Priority and Change The Map Prayer Initiative.

"The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest."

Matthew 9:37-38
